

Pertamina may buy LyondellBasell French refinery

13/11/2012

SOURCE <http://www.hydrocarbonprocessing.com>

SAMPLE The LyondellBasell refinery is under reconstruction and its refining units are being mothballed through to the end of 2013 after the company was unable to find a buyer. The refinery would be the third to stop operations in France over the past years amid low demand in the region. French industry minister Arnaud Montebourg said Tuesday that Indonesia's state-owned oil company Pertamina is interested in the LyondellBasell-owned Berre oil refinery in southern France. The refinery is in the process of being mothballed.