

FMC Opens Innovation Centre in China

Date: July 2014, 24

FMC Corporation has announced the opening of its Asian Innovation Centre located in Zhangjiang Hi-Tech Park in the Pudong area of Shanghai, China. This facility will act as the company's hub for research and development, technical innovation, operational support and executive management in the Asia Pacific region.

The 22,000 square meter facility features laboratories as well as office space, with around 60% dedicated to research and development labs. The company consolidated four sites in the Shanghai region to the new centre.

Source: Philipp Mc Dougall