

China's Sinopec Qilu, Wanda Group to complete ACN unit in Sept

DATE : 2014-03-18

China's Sinopec Qilu Petrochemical and Wanda Group are scheduled to complete the construction of a 130,000 tonne/year acrylonitrile (ACN) unit at Dongying in Shandong province on 25 September, Sinopec said on Tuesday.

This first phase of the ACN project, which is a joint venture between Sinopec Qilu and Wanda Group, will be commissioned in October.

The construction timeline for the second 130,000 tonne/year ACN unit at the same Dongying site was not given.

State-owned oil giant Sinopec is the parent company of Sinopec Qilu Petrochemical.
