

Butadiene plant to be shut by Tosoh for maintenance

DATE : 2014-01-02

Tosoh Crop is in plans to shut a butadiene plant for maintenance turnaround.

A Polymerupdate source in Japan informed that the plant is planned to be shut in mid-March 2014 and it is expected to remain shut for about one month.

Located in Yokkaichi, Japan, the butadiene plant has a production capacity of 500,000 mt/year.

SOURCE PolymerUpdate