

China to set anti dumping measures against MMA from Singapore, Thailand and Japan

The Ministry of Commerce issued the No.29 Announcement, publishing the preliminary decision of the anti-dumping investigation of the imported Methyl Methacrylate originating in Singapore, Thailand and Japan on July 24, 2015.

The Ministry of Commerce affirmed that dumping was found in Methyl Methacrylate imported from Singapore, Thailand and Japan, causing the Chinese domestic industry the substantive and severe damage. MOFCOM decided to implement the temporary anti-dumping measures by the means of cash deposit guarantee. According to the preliminary decision, the importers should provide relevant cash deposit to the Chinese customs according to the dumping margin (6.8%-34.6%) of all companies defined in the preliminary decision when importing the products from the above sources.

This product is listed in the Customs Tariff of Import & Export Commodities of PRC: 29161400. Products other than Methyl Methacrylate under this HS code are beyond the scope of this investigation.
