

China's Shanghai SECCO achieves on-spec ACN after trial runs

DATE : 2015-04-10

China's Shanghai SECCO Petrochemical has achieved on-spec acrylonitrile (ACN) after trial runs at its two new lines in Shanghai, a company source said on Friday.

"Starting from the end of March, we took trial runs at the two new lines each with a capacity of 130,000 tonnes/year one by one at the same site," the source added.

However, the source declined to disclose the operation rate.

Market sources expect the increment of production at the plant to be less than 20,000 tonnes during April.
