

SM plant likely to be taken off-stream by Siam Styrene Monomer

DATE : 2015-02-23

Siam Styrene Monomer Co Ltd is likely to take off-stream its styrene monomer (SM) plant for maintenance turnaround.

A Polymerupdate source in Thailand informed that the plant is likely to be shut in Q1, 2015. A definite schedule for the shutdown could not be ascertained.

Located at Map Ta Phut in Thailand, the plant has a production capacity of 300,000 mt/year.
