

ACN plant of Lukoil to be shut for maintenance turnaround

DATE: 2015-03-03

Lukoil is in plans to shut an acrylonitrile (ACN) plant for maintenance turnaround.

A Polymerupdate source in Russia informed that the company's ACN unit is likely to be shut for maintenance turnaround in early April 2015. It is planned to remain off-stream for around two weeks.

Located at Saratov in southern Russia, the plant has a production capacity of 150,000 mt/yr.
