

Styrene unit restarted by Styrolution after maintenance

DATE : 2014-12-22

US-based Styrolution has restarted one of two styrene units in Belgium following a maintenance turnaround.

A Polymerupdate source in Belgium informed that the unit restarted on December 20, 2014. It could not be ascertained as to which of the two units were shut for maintenance.

The company operates two styrene lines in Antwerp, Belgium with production capacities of 240,000 mt/year and 260,000 mt/year respectively.
