

Pipe Extrusion

In a pipe extrusion line the pellets are fed into a single screw extruder where they are melted and pushed through an annular die where they are extruded as an annular profile. The molten pipe is then calibrated, cooled down in a calibration tank and pulled to the collection point.

Capabilities in Bollate

Capabilities in Alpharetta

Capabilities in Shanghai

Capabilities in NOH