

Compression molding

It is a static process where the solid polymer as pellets or powder is placed into a mold where at first is heated to melt the polymer and then it is cooled to obtain the final shape.

Capabilities in Bollate

Capabilities in Alpharetta

Capabilities in Shanghai

Capabilities in Fuji

Capabilities in NOH