

2. Application Notes

This section of the wiki holds all information related to a specific target application that will be consuming data from the Pricing Data Lake, either now or in future iterations.

The timelines indicated which PI work is tentatively scheduled to prepare the data required for this application within the Data Lake and when the target application is expected to start sourcing the data from the data lake.

Below is an overview of all the relevant applications and the respective application owners. We also have an overview of which datasets are used by which application.
