

ELN - E-WORKBOOK

The ability to create, share, search and query research and development (R&D) data in real-time, offers your organization the opportunity to transform the research process with improved efficiency and enhanced collaboration in a secure, easy-to-use environment.

Bringing together every aspect of a researcher's day-to-day activities, the E-WorkBook ELN provides a common view of data across disparate R&D areas, enabling complete visibility of research information, including instrument data, statistical analysis, graphical data and text-based content along with human observations. Efficiency is enhanced by the inbuilt workflow capability supporting the review and witnessing processes.
