

Reload the project manually (SpP)

To be completed with the proper alerting put in place to the users.

Some checks in the project are related to issues that can happen on files maintained by business users. In order to avoid a technical intervention when they fail, business users can directly launch a new execution of the project after fixing the issues in these files.

However, be aware that the data will only be refreshed in the Qlik dashboard and Salesforce interface the next day.
