

Google Sites: Separation Guide

Google Sites

As of March 17, all Google Sites shared between Solvay and Syensqo users; have been split into Solvay-only and Syensqo-only versions. In practice, this means the Syensqo-only copies have new URLs and any references (links, bookmarks, shortcuts) to them must be updated. Please refer to the Solvay /Syensqo Google Site Catalog; where you can lookup the names/links to find your Syensqo site copy

In most cases, share access has been maintained; if you used to have access to the shared Solvay/Syensqo version; you also have access to the Syensqo-only version. However, there are cases where site owners have asked for sharing resets and you are presented with the screen below; you will need to request share access again from the site owner.

You need access

Request access, or switch to an account with access.
