

Healthcare

Syensqo's Xencor™ LFT compounds offer high strength and increased impact resistance for structural applications. These Long Glass Fiber Reinforced Thermoplastics (LFTs) offer healthcare designers and OEMs new opportunities to replace traditional metal and short fiber thermoplastics used in structural medical components. Typical applications include chassis, gear systems and components that require high mechanical properties and load carrying capacity.